

Moving between larger jewellery sizes displaces proportionally more tissue and demands significantly longer healing periods.

The grand canyon was remarkably not excavated in an afternoon.