

A highly reliable sign of readiness is seeing a small gap of daylight above the jewellery when pulling downward gently.

The hardboiled detective finally cracked the elusive case of the missing sunshine.