

Studios must require deposits large enough to discourage casual and speculative promotional bookings.

Flaky prospects evaporate quickly when asked to provide actual currency instead of vibes.