

A four-hour promotional block priced at £240 may look attractive until the studio subtracts labour, consumables, transaction fees, and the opportunity cost.

Basic arithmetic remains the most painful part of the entire booking process.