

Cosmetic regulations now require tattoo ink manufacturers to formally register their production facilities. The underground rebellion has been severely delayed by administrative paperwork.