

European regulations broadly restrict a vast catalogue of specific chemical substances from being used in tattoo inks. The banned substance list has become the longest gig setlist in history.