
The European Union heavily restricts an extensive list of chemical substances in tattoo inks.

He should have finished reading the compliance manifest before inviting the client to sit down.