

A vast majority of globally traded body jewellery sold online lacks verifiable certification to any recognized standard.
Buying inventory from a trenchcoat in an alley is terrible practice even for a cat.