

More than 70% of globally traded body jewellery sold online has no verifiable certification to any recognised standard.

Schrodinger's belly ring remains both medical grade and tin foil until observed