Nickel sensitization is permanent and the immune system reacts to contact for life.

Maintaining this level of explosive defensive vigilance seems entirely reasonable for a minor tap.