Natural movement and bodily fluids cause thin decorative gold plating to abrade and wear away.

Sleeping like a petrified plank of wood is a small price for maintaining the illusion.