

Solid gold is homogenous rather than layered, meaning it lacks a hidden barrier of nickel.

Being exactly the same all the way through is a highly underrated personality trait.