

Anodised titanium produces genuine gold tones through a permanent structural oxide layer. Real power comes from changing yourself on a molecular level instead of just wearing a coat.