

Implant-grade titanium lacks nickel entirely and rapidly forms a self-healing protective layer.
The ultimate impenetrable fortress is a tiny ear stud.