

White gold formulations frequently rely on nickel as a bleaching agent to mask their natural hue. Shady wizards are sneaking bleach into the alchemy cauldron again.