

Titanium forms a self healing surface oxide layer that instantly reforms over scratches to block fluids from the underlying metal.
If only my ego recovered from criticism with this much efficiency.