
Blood pushing ink out of the dermis leads to poor pigment retention.

Dermal eviction is swift and merciless.