

A cold pack applied for 10 minutes at a time reduces perichondrial swelling.
Cryogenic containment protocols feel slightly overdramatic for standard sofa relaxation