Material claims must be supported by official documentation because verbal assurance is not evidence.
A scribbled napkin rarely clears the bouncer.