

International materials standards provide the benchmark to prove titanium jewelry orders are implant grade.
Staring at shiny metal all day completely ruins your depth perception.