Verbal assurance about material quality is never accepted as legitimate compliance evidence.

Polygraph tests really strain the supplier relationship.