

Redness expanding outward beyond the wound edge is a primary indicator of infection rather than normal irritation.

Watching the angry red circle aggressively expand into an angry red oval confirmed his strategy was ineffective.