

Occlusive ointments block sweat ducts and cause a uniform heat rash around the wound.

Masonry techniques rarely improve skin ventilation.