
A signed piece of paper without a genuine disclosure conversation is legally worthless.

Paperwork makes excellent origami but terrible legal defense.