
Consent records must be kept securely and remain readable for a minimum retention period.

A lost password is the modern equivalent of a library fire.