

The person performing the procedure must personally obtain consent and disclose the material risks.

The disguise lacked a certain subtlety.