Laser pulses can trigger a chemical reaction that turns titanium dioxide white ink darker.

The apparition proved highly sensitive to sudden illumination.