

Hypopigmentation occurs when laser energy destroys melanocytes instead of tattoo pigment, producing lightened patches.

A glowing silhouette is just a louder secret.