

Post-laser hypopigmentation is usually temporary when melanocytes are merely stunned rather than destroyed.

Everyone deserves a short nap on the job.