V

Macrophages patrol the dermal tissue layers.

Immune cells recognize shattered pigment fragments.

Phagocytosis removes waste from the dermis.

Immune cells recognize shattered pigment fragments.

Intact ink remains too large entirely.

The biological immune system clears cellular debris over several weeks.
REMOVAL RELIES ON PHAGOCYTOSIS.