

Clients should actively monitor for symptoms like fatigue following a potential exposure alert.

Yawning is just a known side effect of being awake.