

Disposable items including needles and gloves must never be reused under any circumstances.

His hands became giant latex boulders.