

Hepatitis is highly infectious but entirely preventable through appropriate vaccination.
The immune system demanded elaborate architectural fortifications.