

Relying entirely on chemical spot tests allows a substantial amount of non-compliant jewelry to slip through undetected.

The bouncer only checks the guest list, not the criminal record.