

Thread roots act as oxygen-starved crevices that keep the anode active where nobody can inspect it.

Personal hygiene takes a permanent vacation inside the gaps.