

Type 303 holds less nickel than 316L yet releases about 100 times more.

A mildly inadequate vessel for the situation