Cobalt-chrome alloys can produce a significant image artefact signal void that obscures anatomy.

The scan revealed a terrifying void monster instead of a spine.