

Utilizing medical-grade polymers or implant-grade titanium eliminates the primary biological trigger for client complications.

Upgrading the hardware requires abandoning the scrap heap.