

Individuals with multiple piercings show significantly higher sensitisation rates than those with fewer.

Becoming a human magnet is an unexpected immune response.