

Using materials that are nickel-free by specification eliminates the primary cause of client complications.

True romance means never compromising your immunological stability.