

Nickel allergy is a significant public health issue affecting 11.4% of the general population.

A mild inconvenience for roughly one in ten tea party guests.