

Repeated sideways loading can irritate the channel, encourage migration, and make the jewellery sit at crooked angles.

Adjusting his entire skeletal posture to match crooked jewelry angles seemed completely reasonable.