

Creators should distinguish temporary costumes from body modification before 1,000,000 viewers copy the image.

The human photocopier requires surprisingly little toner.