

Tattooing and body piercing require entirely different equipment and workflows for safe practice.
The rogue assumed an ink machine would work perfectly for installing a barbell.