A piercing prohibition attached to a tattoo permit changes no exposure risk if the shop only offers tattoos.

The studio remained perfectly safe from piercings since they still only possessed ink.