

Local councils add piercing bans to tattoo approvals even though the applicant never planned to offer piercings.
Bureaucrats possess remarkable talent for solving problems that literally do not exist.