

Tattooing and piercing require fundamentally different equipment and distinct contamination controls.
Interchangeable tools guarantee deeply confusing results.