

European cosmetic regulations strictly prohibit restricted plasticising chemicals from being present in tattoo inks.

The spoon remains the ultimate regulatory tool.