

Studios importing equipment from unverified suppliers face significant regulatory friction without recent laboratory data.

Cheap grips always come with free surfing lessons.