

Over-cleaning and rubbing with cotton buds creates friction that sustains irritation.
Excavating the site requires slightly less enthusiasm.